

Natural disaster insurance claims

KUALA LUMPUR: Flood victims in Kedah and Perlis, who are civil servants and have housing loans to pay, are advised to make natural disaster insurance claims from the relevant insurance companies. The federal treasury, in a statement yesterday, said the insurance claims covered structural damage to their homes like the walls, floor, roof, ceiling and others, burst water tank and house break-ins during the flood. According to the statement, insurance claims can also be made by the third party due to an accident in the victim's house, for hotel accommodation and house rental while the victims' homes are being repaired, and for loss of house rental due to the loss of tenants while houses owned by the victims are being repaired or for a period of six months, whichever is earlier. — Bernama
