

SURF'S UP, ROAD GOES DOWN

Surging high-tides and the constant pounding of huge waves on the usually tranquil beaches of Teluk Lipat in Dungun, Terengganu over the past few days have eroded part of the dual-carriageway, here. This has forced the closure of the affected section which resulted in massive traffic congestion as only one of the lanes is open to traffic. The problem is expected to go from bad to worse as the phenomenon, described as the worst in 50 years, is forecast to last until next month. Pic by Imran Makhzan
